The DONAHUE Family Tradition:

My family's history in the funeral business is both an honor and humbling. My great grandfather James P. Donahue started our family in the funeral business prior to formal licensing of Funeral Directors as we know of them today. They were humble beginnings as horse and carriage traveled for many hours to cemeteries. My grandfather James P. Donahue, Sr. entered the business in the early 1900's in the metropolitan area of the City of Philadelphia along with his brother Philip A. Donahue a licensed funeral director located in the Kensington section of Philadelphia. James P. Donahue Jr., my uncle and my father Philip A. Donahue opened locations in both Franklinville and Kensington sections of Philadelphia.

..... and I, Philip A. Donahue, am the fourth generation of our family, operating in the city of Philadelphia and later relocating to the Central and Upper Bucks area of Bucks County. In addition to the long history of professionals, on my grandfather's maternal side of the family has also been in the funeral business for many years starting with my uncle John F Murray in the Germantown section of Philadelphia followed by his son Dennis A. Murray, Sr. and son Dennis A. Murray Jr. currently in the Flourtown section of Montgomery County.

Pre-Arrangements:

With so many details and decisions associated with arranging a funeral, planning before the need arises can relieve loved ones of the responsibility of making arrangements during a difficult time. Planning in advance provides peace of mind; you know that all of the personal and financial considerations have been addressed, and that your wishes and needs will be met.

Pre-arranging services offers a number of important advantages, such as:

Personal Choices. With pre-planning, you can select the type of services and merchandise that you desire. And, even the smallest detail can be addressed, ensuring that all of your needs and wishes are satisfied.

Peace of Mind. You can take comfort in the fact that all of the important decisions have been made, relieving family members and friends of many burdens during a difficult time.

Security. The State of Pennsylvania law which governs funeral pre funding dictates that 100% of the principal and 100% of the interest generated from a funeral account remains in an individual account. The funds remain in the name of the individual; the bank sends all statements to the individual. Your money is safe and secure.

Sensible Planning. Addressing your decisions in advance when you are emotionally and financially prepared to handle them makes sense. It is a fiscally responsible approach for such an important decision.
